

World Hindu Congress 2014

Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal, Dean, Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences, Jain University was selected as one of the Key Speakers of World Hindu Congress 2014 Conference held between 21 – 23 November 2014 and delivered lecture on the topic “Violence against Women in Media and its Impact on Young Girls”. In her presentation, Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal stressed on futuristic vision of our country where the media, instead of having the yard stick of consumerism and sensational approach, should get down a step and strengthen women to emancipate in the process of building a society free from violence and atrocities. Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal’s paper was well received by the audience and the thought provoking presentation created a repulse among the delegates to think about the media seriously. More than 200 speakers were set to address 45 sessions over 3 days. Around 1500 delegates joined from over 40 countries at the historic event.

Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal making her presentation

Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal interacting with American Hindu teacher and author, Dr. David Frawley

Dr. Choodamani Nandagopal with Pramila Tayi, Vandaneeya Shantakka, Ramaratna, Padma Sheshdri and others.