

DECCAN Chronicle

Monday, September 26, 2011

AEROSPACE ENGG INSTITUTE OPENS IN CITY

Bengaluru: The International Institute of Aerospace Engineering and Management (IIAEM), was officially inaugurated at the Jain Global campus by Dr K. Kasturirangan, Member Planning Commission, Science and Technology, Government of India and former Chairman, ISRO on Sunday.

The innovative venture by Jain University is a collaboration with HAL, NAL, DRDO, ISRO, Airports Authority of India (AAI) and BIAL, among others. IIAEM will offer diploma, undergraduate, postgraduate, and research programmes like PhD in aerospace engineering, M.Tech. in aerospace engineering, M.Tech. in Airport infrastructure design and construction management, MBA in aviation business management, etc., and certificate programmes.