Unique resumé gets Indian boy dream job in UK magazine

Believe it of not, 21-year-old Bengaluru boy Sumukh Mehta was hired by GQ magazine London without as much as an interview. Mehta had sent a 20-page resumé laid out like his favourite magazine, complete with a cover page, table of contents and a special editor's note. Editor-in-Chief Dylan Jones was impressed enough to offer Mehta a job at their London headquarters. Now that's a bestselling issue.
