

Burgeoning demand for Aviation Business Management students

With a vision of becoming the third largest aviation market by 2020 and the largest by 2030, the Indian civil aviation industry is on an upward projectile. The huge potential of the Indian aviation market (99.5% of the population still has no access to aviation) is attracting investors from all over the world and with the projection of government agencies that at least 500 airports would be required in India by 2020; it is great news for Aviation Business Management students. The demand for competent and trained professionals in this sector is bound to grow and this creates tremendous opportunities for aspiring candidates/managers to reshape the industry and become the aviators of change.

The International Institute of Aerospace Engineering & Management of Jain University is one of the few institutions in India that offers a two-year-full-time MBA in Aviation Business Management. The programme was conceived through extensive research, interaction and consultation with Aircraft Industries, Aerospace R&D Centres, Airlines, Airports, and Academic Institutions.

It covers the fundamentals of General Management, specialisation in Aviation Business and additional specialisation in International Business/Finance/Marketing. It is designed innovatively to provide career opportunities in the field of Aerospace Regulatory Authorities, National and International Airports, National and International Airlines, Air Cargo Operators, Aviation Fuel Companies and Allied Aviation Service Providers.

The eligibility required is any degree from a recognised university, desirably with the relevant or related subject/s with not less than 50% in aggregate with CAT/MAT/KMAT score of 500 out of 800 or 50th percentile.
