

Jain University's MBA Student is now a Google Student Ambassador

Akshita Jain, an MBA student of School of Commerce and Management Studies, Jain University is awarded the coveted title 'Google Student Ambassador' (GSA) for the academic year 2013-14 by Google.

The Programme is an opportunity for the GSA to act as a liaison between Google and Jain University. Through this the GSA would

- Learn about various innovative Google products and programmes
- Plan and host fun events on campus
- Act as a campus contact for Google teams
- Help Google better understand the University's culture
